Important Note: The investment fee analysis reported in the table above measures only the relative fee level of your current plan offerings as compared to fee medians from style, size, and vehicle-specific peer universes, which Aon Investments believes is an appropriate comparison. Determining whether an investment's expense is reasonable depends on a variety of factors including the level of returns achieved and the method with which administration and operational expenses are paid. Understanding and evaluating the total cost of plan operations, including both investment and administration fees is a critical analysis that should be completed periodically. Vehicle Type Definitions: "MF" = Mutual Fund, "CF" = Collective Investment Trust, "SA" = Separate Account. Expense Ratio is intended to represent a fund's total expense ratio which may include investment management fees, 12b-1 fees, custodial fees, trustee fees, revenue sharing components and/or charges for fund or plan administration. Fee universes are provided and calculated by eVestment Alliance, as of June 30, 2024. Fund expense information has been sourced from eVestment for all asset classes except the stable value and target date fund universes, which uses Morningstar databases. The peer groups which use Morningstar data are shown as of July 31, 2023. Since fund expense ratios do not change frequently, Aon Investments believes this study to be a relevant comparison for up to a year, at which time it will be updated. For complete information on methodologies, contact your Aon Investments consultant.

*The PIMCO Inflation Response MA Inst fund has an Adjusted Expense Ratio of 0.69% (effective 07/31/23). The Adjusted Expense Ratio excludes certain investment expenses, such as interest expense from borrowings and repurchase agreements and dividend expense from investments on short sales, incurred directly by the Fund or indirectly through the Fund's investments in underlying PIMCO Funds (if applicable), none of which are paid to PIMCO.

The bottom-up approach assumes that individual companies can do well, even in an industry or sector that is not performing well.

Glossary of Investment Terms and Concepts

Consumer Price Index (CPI)

A measure of the average change in prices over time of a fixed group of goods and services. The CPI is published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics in the Department of Labor and is released monthly. It is widely used as a cost-of-living benchmark.

Correlation

Statistical measure of the degree to which the movements of two variables are related, ranging from 1 to -1. For asset allocation purposes, mixing two assets with a correlation less than 1 results in a benefit of diversification because the two assets do not behave in exactly the same manner.

Core Investment Style

An investment approach that managers utilize by reviewing the entire universe of growth and value stocks within a market capitalization range, then choosing a combination of the most attractive of either type to create a blended portfolio with a style that is neither a pure value nor a pure growth. Core portfolio characteristics including P/E ratio, P/B ratio, and dividend yield that typically lie between growth and value portfolios.

Coupon

The interest on a debt security, e.g., a bond, the issuer promises to pay to the holder until maturity, expressed as an annual percentage of the security's face value. For example, a bond with a 10% coupon will pay $10 per $100 of the face amount per year.

Current Yield

The annual interest on a bond divided by the market price. If a $1,000 bond was bought at $800 and the annual income from the bond was $100, the current yield is $100 divided by $800, or 12½%.

Dow Jones Industrial Average

Computed by summing the prices of the stocks of 30 companies and then dividing that total by a value which has been adjusted over the years so that the index is not affected by stock splits.

Downside Risk

Estimate that a security will decline in value and the extent of the decline, taking into account the total range of factors affecting market price.

Duration

Measure of the price change of a bond to a change in its yield to maturity. It summarizes, in a single number, the characteristics that cause bond prices to change in response to a change in interest rates. The price of a bond with a duration of three years will rise by approximately 3% for each 1% decrease in its yield to maturity. That price will decrease 3% for each 1% increase in the bond's yield. Price changes for two different bonds can be compared using duration. A bond with a duration of six years will exhibit twice the percentage price change of a bond with a three year duration. The actual calculation of a bond's duration is somewhat complicated, but the idea behind the calculation is straightforward. The first step is to measure the time interval until receipt for each cash flow (coupon and principal payments) from a bond. The second step is to compute a weighted average of these time intervals. Each time interval is measured by the present value of that cash flow. This weighted average is the duration of the bond measured in years.

Excess Risk

A measure of the standard deviation of a portfolio's performance relative to the risk free return, represented by 90-Day T-Bills.

Expense Ratio

A figure that represents the percentage of fund assets paid for operating expenses and management fees, including 12b-1 fees, administrative fees, and all other asset-based costs incurred by the fund, except for brokerage costs and sales charges.

Long-Term Earnings Growth

The long-term perspective earnings growth rate is the assetweighted average of the long-term perspective earning growth rates of all the domestic stocks in the fund's portfolio as of the date of the portfolio. Long-term prospective earnings growth rates for stocks are provided by a third party stock data vendor.

Market Capitalization

Market capitalization may also refer to the total current value of the holdings of a mutual fund.

Glossary of Investment Terms and Concepts

Up/Down Capture

The up and down capture is a measure of how well a manager was able to replicate or improve on phases of positive benchmark returns, and how badly the manager was affected by phases of negative benchmark returns. To calculate the up capture, we first form a new series from the manager and benchmark series by dropping all time periods where the benchmark return is zero or negative. The up capture is then the quotient of the annualized return of the resulting manager series, divided by the annualized return of the resulting benchmark series. The down capture is calculated analogously.

Value Stock

A stock that is considered to be a good investment at a desirable price, based on fundamental analysis, such as its P/B and its P/E, among other criteria. Generally, these stocks are contrasted with growth stocks that trade at higher P/E multiples.
